British Students To Meet Canadians In International Debate

Jones Of Wales, And McNeil Of Scotland, Comprise Visiting Team

ARRIVE NEXT MONTH

Extensive Tour To Cover Dominion From Coast To Coast

Plans are being arranged to have an international debate between the British Universities debating team and McGill on October 26 or 27. This will be part of an extensive tour by two Britishers through sixteen cities of Canada and Newfoundland this fall.

The members of the visiting team are Ivor Jones, chosen by the National Union of Students of England and Wales, and Hector McNeil, chosen by the Students' Representative Council of Scotland. The tour has been arranged by the National Federation of Canadian University Students, which is representative of practically all the Canadian universities.

Are Prominent Students

Jones is a graduate of the University College of Wales, where he was president of the Students' Council and the Labor Club, in addition to representing his college in several debates. McNeil is from Glasgow University. He is president of the University Socialist Club, and prominent among the young men in politics. He is also vice-president of the famous Diabetic Society, the oldest society in the University, among whose members are many famous parliamentarians and jurists.

Among the cities included in the tour are St. John's, Halifax, Lennoxville, Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver, finishing with Regina. The tour will last from the beginning of October until December first.

While in Montreal, from October 26 to 27, they are to meet McGill debaters, and, if plans materialize, a team from the Junior Board of Trade.

Lecturer To Discuss Problem Of Heredity

University Of London Professor Is McGill Graduate

The problems of the origins of species from the viewpoint of the student of heredity, will be the subject of the lecture to be given here Wednesday afternoon by Professor R. Ruggles Gates, F.R.S. This address will be open to research students and professors of McGill, University of Montreal, and MacDonald College.

Professor Gates is professor of botany at King's College, University of London, and an outstanding authority in the study of botany. He graduated McGill in 1906 with a B.Sc. It was soon after his graduation that Professor Gates won recognition by his discovery that mutations and new species of the evening primrose were due to quantitative changes in the eye by the studies of the physical basis of inheritance and evolution.

Professor Gates attended the meeting of the 6th International Congress of Genetics held at Cornell University and has since been on a lecture tour through the United States and Canada.

Horses Are Coming Back Indiana Professors Claim

Horses are coming back. Farmers have found that horses are much more convenient to use because less money is necessary, and farmers are more sentimentally attached to horses than to tractors. So, if we are to believe two professors of Purdue University, horses are coming back.

They base their opinions on the fact that the demand for horses is increasing in their native state, Indiana, and that at a state fair, where they displayed home-made hitch display, an increasingly greater number of people stopped to watch each day.

1851 Research Scholarships

Three 1851 Research Scholarships are offered annually to Canadian students. Last year two were won by J. F. Heard and M. K. McPhail of McGill. Not less than 8 of these scholarships are awarded each year; Canada gets 3, Australia 2, S. Africa, N. Z., and Irish Free State 1 each. In recent years it has been found possible to award more than the minimum number.

Large Universities Abolishing Freshmen Initiation Practices

Many Noted Colleges Discard Custom Of Hazing New Men

It has been many years since McGill freshmen last appeared donned in green hats and freshettes were compelled to stockings of different colors. With the abolition of freshman hazing in 1929, the lot of those entering this hall of learning for the first time has been much easier.

At other universities, freshmen are still subjected to several humiliations for the first week, month, or term of their entering year. The number of colleges, however, that are abolishing this practice is steadily increasing.

U.N.B. President Disapproves

In his opening address, President C. C. Jones of the University of New Brunswick gave voice to his adverse views on initiation. He expressed the opinion that for the sake of the standing with the public, the students should exercise extreme care in regard to initiation, and considered that it would be an extremely wise policy to discontinue it entirely.

Many large universities are following a policy of which the Massachusetts Institute of Technology is an example. The freshmen have to wear a tie made in the college colors, and are not allowed to loiter around the main lobby. The reason given for adopting these rules are said to be for the purpose of bringing about a more congenial spirit at the Institute. These rules are not merely to humiliate the first year men. Movements of this nature on the part of large universities show that they are far from the "rah-rah" colleges of the movies of a few years ago.

Used Texts Bought At Union Exchange

500 Books, Amounting To $750 Received On First Day

SALES OPEN MONDAY

Committee Urges Students To Bring In All Old Volumes At Once

Opening yesterday for its first day of business, the Book Exchange was the scene of much excitement, as students in all years and faculties filled the little room in the basement of the Union, in an attempt to capitalize on their old text books. Although no more books will be sold for a few days, some were sold yesterday, through a misunderstanding.

About 500 books were taken in yesterday, amounting to about $750. These were text-books, reference books and laboratory manuals, for almost every course offered by the University. There is a heavy demand for three or four books, however, which the Exchange has not been able to meet. These are:—Sociology, Dawson and Gettys; Van der Smitten's German Grammar; Marchen und Erzählungen; Greenfield and Babson, French Reader; Determinative Mineralogy.

The Book Exchange, however, is overstocked with certain books, and the following are not required until further notice:—

French:—Le Voyage de M. Perrichon; Les trois Mousquetaires; Gavroche; Le Gendre de M. Poirer; Les Preclieuses Ridicules; Cinq Semaines en Ballon; French Composition (Green and Fort); Andromaque (Racine); Contes et Nouvelles; Eight French Stories (Manly).

Latin:—Petrie's Latin Reader. Mathematics:—Plane Trigonometry (Carson); Elementary Trigonometry (Hall and Knight, 1927 Edition) (Canadian Rev. Edition, 1931 required).

Psychology:—General Psychology (Gault and Howard). English:—Handbook of Composition (Wooley); Essays and Studies (Smith); Century Collegiate Handbook.

Chemistry:—Newell's Chemistry. In charge of the Exchange are Selwyn Willis, Ronnie Latham, Jack Nolan, Bert Hamilton, and Bob Hamilton. The Exchange will be open for receiving books only, today from 10 to 1 and from 2 to 5, and tomorrow from 10 to 1. Books will be sold on Monday and following days from 10 to 1, and from 2 to 5.15.

Ushers Wanted By Scarlet Key Society

The Scarlet Key sends out its annual call for Freshmen Ushers for rugby games at the McGill Stadium. The call is made for 50 men. All those wishing to usher will please report to G. W. Painter at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the McGill Union. This call is urgent since men are required for Saturday's game against R.M.C.

Many Benefit From Entry Scholarships

Twenty-six Gain Entrance Awards To McGill

ALL FROM QUEBEC

Among the newcomers to McGill this year no less than 26 have distinguished themselves by winning entrance scholarships. The majority of these are awarded on the results of the matriculation examinations held in June of each year, but some, such as the Beatty Scholarships are awarded by special examinations.

The list of those winning entrance scholarships this year follows: Sir William MacDonald Scholarships (Value $150—Open to Men Only)

Machray's Affairs To Be Investigated By Special Board

Another angle to the recent University of Manitoba embezzlement is being unravelled by a board of inquiry appointed by the government, after the arrest of John A. Machray, K.C., former bursar of the university. They are determined to find out how it was possible to conceal the shortages in view of the powers vested in the administrative body, and the audits which are provided for.

The board is asked by the government to report on the method employed in the administration of the trust funds, the date when the leakage began, and the use made of the assets which were abstracted.

Recommendations will be made by the board regarding any changes that they may deem necessary in the conduct, management, and control of the university.

Juniors Entertain First Year R.V.C.

Sightseeing And Teas Help Make Freshies Feel At Home

HAZING OBSOLETE

Committee Expects Frosh To Take Lively Interest In Activities

Freshies are beginning to feel at home after four days of sightseeing and of getting helpful hints from solicitous Juniors, who have been looking after them and entertaining them at tea every afternoon since Monday in Strathcona Hall. The Juniors feel that the newcomers have had an opportunity of getting together as a class and that they will probably appreciate being left to their own devices from now on.

Hazing has gone out of date with the days when freshmen looked the part. This year there will be no flaunting of coloured specs, no sporting of multi-coloured woolen stockings or of placards proclaiming names to an indifferent world, no kowtowing to Sophs or trundling toys along Sherbrooke Street, as was customary in former years. Freshies will have to find another way of getting into the limelight this year.

It is felt that they look too much like seasoned veterans to make the performance even mildly amusing. The committee expects to see them take a lively interest in the societies they are most interested in, and looks to them to pep up student activity, which is reputed to be very much on the wane.

New Fee System In South. Universities

Hard-hit Farmers Enabled To Pay In Kind

"Mary had a little lamb" has taken on a new significance to the students of the University of Louisiana, who were astounded to see a modern Mary drive a herd of cattle up to the bus-sar's office of that institution. The livestock represented her tuition fee, on the hoof.

This unique state of affairs was brought on by the university's announcement to the effect that college fees were payable, this semester, in farm produce, fox pelts, duck feathers, or live stock.

The same generous offer has been made by Illinois Wesleyan, where the valuation of five to twenty per cent above the market quotations has proven a stimulus to university enrollment.

Prominent Experts Assert Higher Education Changing

That trends in higher education are changing, was the consensus of opinion reached by thirty-five men representing twenty universities at a research held recently at the University of Minnesota.

One of the outstanding changes in their opinion is the fact that honor courses are being rapidly replaced in favor of systems of comprehensive examinations. Another prominent change is the requirement of five years of academic and professional training. A third change in the trends of higher education is that the academic scholarship is more indicative of future teaching success, than is the professional training record.

Delegates From All Canada Present At S. C. M. Conference

OPEN FORUMS HELD

Professor King Gordon Gives Views On "Religion Of Russia"

Outstanding speakers from Canada and foreign countries led the twelfth Central Area Conference of the Student Christian Movement of Canada held in the Muskoka Lake district of Ontario this past week. These conferences are held every year at Elgin House, some 130 miles north of Toronto, and are attended by students from every university in Canada.

The serious work of the conference consisted of addresses, open forums, and group discussions. The leading speakers present were Reinhold Niebuhr of the Union Theological Seminary, New York City; T. Z. Koo, secretary of the Student Christian Movement of China; Professor King Gordon of the United Theological College, Montreal; Professor Eric Havelock of Victoria College, Toronto; Professor John Lowe of Trinity College, Toronto; Professor Vlastos of Queen's University, Kingston; and Dean Carrington of Bishop's College, Lennoxville.

Despite the depression and falling-off in the hotel industry, one hundred per cent of the graduates of the course in Hotel Administration at Cornell University were placed within a week of graduation last June. In addition to the placement of graduates, summer practice positions were found for three-quarters of the undergraduates.

This is an enviable record, in that there was a larger class, and all were placed sooner than ever before, despite present economic conditions. A larger number of undergraduates were placed as well, also in record time. The hotel industry is as hard hit as any, yet the graduates were finding their places more readily than in any previous year.

This success is attributed to the excellent reputation established by former students of the course, as well as to the fact that even in hard times hotels seldom close their doors.

The list of placements includes 22 states and provinces of the United States of Canada, as well as England, France and Germany. Large employers often come back for additional men. One hotel chain alone has a total of 16 Cornell hoteliers on its staff. One resort owner who had seven of the 1931 graduates took on 11 more in 1932.

Since 1925, 156 graduates have obtained managerships and other important positions in prominent hotels all over the United States and four foreign countries.

Life Of Osler Will Be Remembered At Chicago WorldFair

The life and achievements of the late Sir William Osler will be illustrated at the World's Fair in Chicago next year. McGill University has accepted the invitation extended to it, to contribute an exhibit. This exhibit will be in the Hall of Science, illustrating the progress made in the past century. The Fair, which is of universal interest, will take place from June 1 to November 1, 1933.

The history of the life of Sir William, outstanding among McGill's eminent graduates, will be depicted by means of photos and reproductions. Numerous articles from our Osler Memorial Library, including copies of his publications, will also be displayed.

Photos and other illustrative material will trace the progress of science. The development of several departments of the university, outstanding among which will be that of medicine, will be demonstrated.

Cornell Hotel School Places All Graduates

Permanent And Summer Positions Found For Students

Despite the depression and falling-off in the hotel industry, one hundred per cent of the graduates of the course in Hotel Administration at Cornell University were placed within a week of graduation last June. In addition to the placement of graduates, summer practice positions were found for three-quarters of the undergraduates.

Musicians Needed

McGill Concert Orchestra Wants More Members

One of the newest musical organizations, the McGill Concert Orchestra, is issuing a call for members. The first rehearsal will be held on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock in the Ball Room. This organization was formed to attempt to supply music at the various college theatrical productions, and the President, Jules Lapointe, stated that the music was not at all difficult and that a great deal of talent was not needed.

The Orchestra will consist of about thirty musicians, and will consist of wind and string instruments. At present, wind instruments are needed the most, but anyone playing a string instrument is invited to the practice on Monday, which will be under the direction of Mr. Irving Cooper.

Reporters Wanted

There are still a few vacancies for men and women students, of all years, on the reporting staff of the McGill Daily. Those who wish to participate in this work, which is arranged so not to conflict with studies, should present themselves between one and one-thirty this afternoon at the Daily office in the McGill Union.

Red Football Team Meets R. M. C. Sat.

Last Exhibition Game Before Start Of Intercollegiate Schedule Oct. 8th

COUPON NUMBER TWO WILL ADMIT STUDENTS

Several Minor Injuries Reported From Senior Training Camp

ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE footballers will make their annual invasion of Montreal tomorrow afternoon, when they meet the Red Seniors in the last exhibition game before the Senior Intercollegiate Schedule gets under way. Coach Shaughnessy had the complete squad out for a vigorous workout yesterday and was drilling the boys on several new plays to be tried on Saturday. Added to the four main ones used against Westward, quarterbacks Krukowski and Gilbert will have a greater variety of tricky plays to trot out for the spectators.

Strong Opposition Expected

The Kingston cadets are expected to give the Red team a stiff test if reports emanating from the soldiers' barracks are any criterion. It will not easily be forgotten by McGill supporters that the 1930 cadet twelve went back to Kingston with the Red-men's scalp under their belts and last year the same team threw quite a scare into McGill quarters.

Coach Shaughnessy will dress thirty-one men for the fray. Several of the star gridders are suffering minor injuries and he will take no chances with these men. Markham has a "charley horse" which has kept him from serious drill for the past few days. Pierce's bad knee kept him out of practice last night. Watson has a strained leg muscle, while Gilbert's arm does not feel any too good after being vaccinated. However it is hoped that all these men will be able to take some part in the game.

The backfield duties will likely be taken care of by the same men who shared the work last Saturday. Westman, Oker and Riddell working on one line and Hammond, Craig and Gilbert on the other. Westman and Craig will bear the brunt of the kicking with Hammond making the occasional punt.

The cadets will field a strong team coached by Major Leslie Gooders, veteran McGill middle wing of 1912. Several veterans and some promising recruits are on this year's lineup. Smith, White and Irvine form a backfield, while Jacobson and Sherriff will be back as regular guards. Blanchard is again handling the team from quarterback. Paul Davoud, star kicking ace, will be missing.

Everyone on the Red team has been working hard for the game. Coach Shaughnessy has asked for a large turnout of students, and a little organized rooting rather than the one feeble McGill yell heard at the last game, to let the squad know that the whole college is behind them. Coupon No. 2 will admit students to the rosters' section.

The same squad as last Saturday will probably start.

This year there will be no flaunting of coloured specs, no sporting of multi-coloured woollen stockings or of placards proclaiming names to an indifferent world, no knowing to Sophs or trundling toys along Sherbrooke Street, as was customary in former years. Freshies will have to find another way of getting into the limelight this year.

It is felt that they look too much like seasoned veterans to make the performance even mildly amusing. The committee expects to see them take a lively interest in the societies they are most interested in, and looks to them to pep up student activity, which is reputed to be very much on the wane.

New Fee System In South. Universities

Hard-hit Farmers Enabled To Pay In Kind

"Mary had a little lamb" has taken on a new significance to the students of the University of Louisiana, who were astounded to see a modern Mary drive a herd of cattle up to the bus-sar's office of that institution. The livestock represented her tuition fee—on the hoof.

This unique state of affairs was brought on by the university's announcement to the effect that college fees were payable, this semester, in farm produce, fox pelts, duck feathers, or live stock.

The same generous offer has been made by Illinois Wesleyan, where the valuation of five to twenty per cent above the market quotations has proven a stimulus to university enrollment.

Prominent Experts Assert Higher Education Changing

That trends in higher education are changing, was the consensus of opinion reached by thirty-five men representing twenty universities at a research held recently at the University of Minnesota.

One of the outstanding changes, in their opinion is the fact that honor courses are being rapidly replaced in favor of systems of comprehensive examinations. Another prominent change is the requirement of five years of academic and professional training. A third change in the trends of higher education is that the academic scholarship is more indicative of future teaching success, than is the professional training record.

Delegates From All Canada Present At S. C. M. Conference

OPEN FORUMS HELD

Professor King Gordon Gives Views On "Religion Of Russia"

Outstanding speakers from Canada and foreign countries led the twelfth Central Area Conference of the Student Christian Movement of Canada held in the Muskoka Lake district of Ontario this past week. These conferences are held every year at Elgin House, some 130 miles north of Toronto, and are attended by students from every university in Canada.

The serious work of the conference consisted of addresses, open forums, and group discussions. The leading speakers present were Reinhold Niebuhr of the Union Theological Seminary, New York City; T. Z. Koo, secretary of the Student Christian Movement of China; Professor King Gordon of the United Theological College, Montreal; Professor Eric Havelock of Victoria College, Toronto; Professor John Lowe of Trinity College, Toronto; Professor Vlastos of Queen's University, Kingston; and Dean Carrington of Bishop's College, Lennoxville.

Deplets Present Conditions

The central figure of the conference this year was Professor Reinhold Niebuhr, one of the leading progressive thinkers of the day. In his first address, he painted the picture of a confused civilization, in which old institutions have crumbled and have not yet been replaced by new ones. "Old ideas are dying and we have not the strength to produce new ones; the discipline of the pioneer frontier is gone, the puritan code of morals is gone, our belief in the twin dogmas of democracy and progress is gone. We are the unhappy generation which must live in the period of transition."

We shall make progress toward the goal of social justice, Professor Niebuhr declared, through group action and the conflict of social groups; these groups will always of necessity be selfish. We can no more hope that the majority of men will ever become unselfish than we hope that we shall ever attain a perfect society. The question then arises: how can the religious man, who must of necessity be somewhat of a perfectionist, cooperate with such imperfect groups? Because of the dualism of true religion, the speaker answered, religion is willing to work toward a goal—the perfect society—even though it knows that man can never reach this goal; it must believe the impossible to be possible. It must employ means that it knows are imperfect and relative; and yet it must look beyond all specific causes to the absolute Good.

Traces Own Development

T. Z. Koo, in a series of fine lectures, traced his own intellectual and spiritual history from the time when religion was to him merely a commonplace picked up in the home; through his college days, when the "one vast principle" of science claimed his intellectual allegiance but left him otherwise cold; into the business world, where he set up for himself a code of ethics, largely negative. Discovering that this was unsatisfactory, it occurred to him to make a systematic study of the teachings of Jesus; as he proceeded with the study, the still more unusual idea occurred to him of linking up Jesus with Gpd. He then discovered in the teaching of Jesus the revelation of God as love—not a meek love, but a fierce love which admitted of no compromise on fundamentals. With this discovery, the sense of reality in religion returned to him.

King Gordon spoke on "The Religion of Russia." Professor Vlastos told about "The Search for Maturity," and Spencer Clarke, of Toronto, showed lantern-slides of Russia and talked about producers cooperation. Professor Havelock on the Movement for a Christian Social Order and the League for Social Reconstruction.

Trip For S.C.A. Executive

On Saturday afternoon the Executive of the S.C.A. plan to go to Isle au Cots. Staying until Sunday evening, they will discuss plans for the coming session. The dates for future meetings, and various other events will be decided upon.

Life Of Osler Will Be Remembered At Chicago WorldFair

The life and achievements of the late Sir William Osler will be illustrated at the World's Fair in Chicago next year. McGill University has accepted the invitation extended it, to contribute an exhibit. This exhibit will be in the Hall of Science, illustrating the progress made in the past century. The Fair, which is of universal interest, will take place from June 1 to November 1, 1933.

The history of the life of Sir William, outstanding among McGill's eminent graduates, will be depicted by means of photos and reproductions. Numerous articles from our Osler Memorial Library, including copies of his publications, will also be displayed.

Photos and other illustrative material will trace the progress of science. The development of several departments of the university, outstanding among which will be that of medicine, will be demonstrated.

Permanent And Summer Positions Found For Students

Despite the depression and falling-off in the hotel industry, one hundred per cent of the graduates of the course in Hotel Administration at Cornell University were placed within a week of graduation last June. In addition to the placement of graduates, summer practice positions were found for three-quarters of the undergraduates.

This is an enviable record, in that there was a larger class, and all were placed sooner than ever before, despite present economic conditions. A larger number of undergraduates were placed as well, also in record time. The hotel industry is as hard hit as any, yet the graduates were finding their places more readily than in any previous year.

This success is attributed to the excellent reputation established by former students of the course, as well as to the fact that even in hard times hotels seldom close their doors. The list of placements includes 22 states and provinces of the United States of Canada, as well as England, France and Germany. Large employers often come back for additional men. One hotel chain alone has a total of 16 Cornell hoteliers on its staff. One resort owner who had seven of the 1931 graduates took on 11 more in 1932.

Since 1925, 156 graduates have obtained managerships and other important positions in prominent hotels all over the United States and four foreign countries.

Musicians Needed

McGill Concert Orchestra Wants More Members

One of the newest musical organizations, the McGill Concert Orchestra, is issuing a call for members. The first rehearsal will be held on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock in the Ball Room. This organization was formed to attempt to supply music at the various college theatrical productions, and the President, Jules Lapointe, stated that the music was not at all difficult and that a great deal of talent was not needed.

The Orchestra will consist of about thirty musicians, and will consist of wind and string instruments. At present, wind instruments are needed the most, but anyone playing a string instrument is invited to the practice on Monday, which will be under the direction of Mr. Irving Cooper.

Reporters Wanted

There are still a few vacancies for men and women students, of all years, on the reporting staff of the McGill Daily. Those who wish to participate in this work, which is arranged so as not to conflict with studies, should present themselves between one and one-thirty this afternoon at the Daily office in the McGill Union.

Red Football Team Meets R. M. C. Sat.

COUPON NUMBER TWO WILL ADMIT STUDENTS

ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE

Footballers will make their annual invasion of Montreal tomorrow afternoon, when they meet the Red Seniors in the last exhibition game before the Senior Intercollegiate Schedule gets under way. Coach Shaughnessy had the complete squad out for a vigorous workout yesterday and was drilling the boys on several new plays to be tried on Saturday. Added to the four main ones used against Westward, quarterbacks Krukowski and Gilbert will have a greater variety of tricky plays to trot out for the spectators.

Strong Opposition Expected

The Kingston cadets are expected to give the Red team a stiff test if reports emanating from the soldiers' barracks are any criterion. It will not easily be forgotten by McGill supporters that the 1930 cadet twelve went back to Kingston with the Red-men's scalp under their belts and last year the same team threw quite a scare into McGill quarters.

Coach Shaughnessy will dress thirty-one men for the fray. Several of the star gridlers are suffering minor injuries and he will take no chances with these men. Markham has a "charley horse" which has kept him from serious drill for the past few days. Pierce's bad knee kept him out of practice last night. Watson has a strained leg muscle, while Gilbert's arm does not feel any too good after being vaccinated. However it is hoped that all these men will be able to take some part in the game.

The backfield duties will likely be taken care of by the same men who shared the work last Saturday. Westman, Olker and Riddell working on one line and Hammond, Craig and Gilbert on the other. Westman and Craig will bear the brunt of the kicking with Hammond making the occasional punt.

The cadets will field a strong team coached by Major Leslie Goodwin, veteran McGill middle wing of 1912. Several veterans and some promising recruits are on this year's lineup. Smith, White and Irvine form a fast elusive backfield, while Jacobson and Sheriff will be back as regular outside. Blanchard is again handling the team from quarterback. Paul Davoud, star kicking ace, will be missing.

Everyone on the Red team has been working hard for the game; Coach Shaughnessy has asked for a large turnout of students, and a little organized rooting rather than the one feeble McGill yell heard at the last game, to let the squad know that the whole college is behind them. Coupon No. 2 will admit students to the rosters' section.

The same squad as last Saturday will probably start.

The statement that education is completed, however, must often be untrue. It is said that a human cannot help being educated, do what you will to it. But some seem to resist with considerable success. And the surest resistance is to learn for a while, then shut books and mind with-

If you can find out when you will die, then you will know when your education should cease. No, we are not suggesting that struggling parents keep their children at college accumulating degrees until the campus is strewn with fallen teeth, and wheel chairs replace the roadsters. The pipe of education can be swallowed out in this cruel world, though it be not coated with academic chocolate. When the valedictorian weeps synthetic tears, education is no over. When the undertaker puts the lid on it is:—maybe.

What could be more appropriate for Arts than the finest of champagnes? The meds, having been at college longer than most of us, are sure to demand something pretty strong. Let them have gin or rum or both or something. Lemons for R.V.C. Bootleg whiskey for law; Ovaline for the M.S.P.E.—and so on, according to each popular taste. When we feel desirous of a change of diet, we shall simply change our faculty for a time, by special permission. But maybe too much lemonade would not be good for us.

SOCCERMEN BEGIN WORKING OUT FOR POSITIONS ON TEAM

Fifteen Men Are Turning Out Regularly At Upper Stadium

FROM present appearances, the 1932 edition of the McGill soccer team will, in all probability, be composed of the majority of last year's men with the addition of one or two newcomers. Graduation has cost the Red team the services of Eddie Mollott—stellar centre-forward and twice captain of the team. To fill his place will seemingly be Coach Hay Finlay's biggest worry, for in the short time available before the team leaves for its invasion of the States, to discover and develop a promising centre-forward is no easy task.

Practices are being held daily on the Upper Field and the various candidates are striving strenuously to get into condition for the fast-approaching season. Thus far, about a dozen to fifteen men have made their daily appearance, but Coach Finlay is anxious to see more new faces, as well as several of the old that have, as yet, failed to put in an appearance. Of the old guard, Jimmy Harkness and Crabtree have not yet donned uniforms; the latter is back for post-grad work in Commerce.

Nolan Returns

Yesterday saw Johnny Nolan out for the first time and, judging by his exuberance, he was mighty glad to feel the touch of the old ball again. Nolan's presence bolsters up a forward line, which all week appeared none too strong—due, no doubt, to a lack of men trying for these positions. For this reason, first-year men and other newcomers are requested to journey to the stadium, and make a bid for a place on the team.

Besides Nolan, other forwards out were Carter, Machin, Lynn, Astwood, and Doubilet. Of these, Carter, an out-of-left, seems to be firmly entrenched in that position, there being no other applicants for the job. Machin and Lynn are two promising forwards, who may, under Hay Finlay's tutelage, develop into first-class goal-getters—which is what the Red team needs most. Astwood, last year, understudied Herbie Crabtree and made a good job of it; what his position is to be this fall is difficult to say. It is likely he may get the call for one of the inside jobs.

Halfbacks Strong

McGill's secondary defence gives promise of being just as strong as that of last year's team. With the return to the fold of McBroom, the half-line—tentatively composed of McBroom, Owen, and Minion—will probably be as strong as any that Toronto can muster, particularly now that King has departed. Of the fullbacks, Reece and Janikun have made their appearance, Harkness having yet to report. Captain Ken Ross will of course be between the posts, and appears to be in as good shape as ever.

The U.S. trip is scheduled for Oct. 11, the team playing West Point on the following day, and Amherst and Springfield in the order named on the fourteenth and fifteenth respectively. As all members of the squad are eagerly looking forward to this trip, added incentive becomes unnecessary to urge all capable freshmen on the field. Prior to leaving, the team will engage in several exhibition games with local teams, the first of these to be played on the Upper Field on Saturday, Oct. 1, against Rosemount Juniors. This will probably be followed by a night-game on the Stadium field against either Royal Victoria Hospital, champions of the Mid-Week League, or Sun Life, runners-up.

Freshman Football

All first year men interested in playing football are requested to turn out at the Molson Stadium this afternoon at four o'clock. Thirty-five men are needed for two freshman squads, one to play junior intercollegiate, and the other to play intermediate intercollegiate. Des Walsh, who played middle on McGill teams of 1923-24, will assist Coach Herb Murphy with the two teams.

SECRECY surrounds McGill oarsmen in their preparations for the Varsity race which will take place after the McGill-Western football game on October 8. No news is forthcoming from the camp of the Red crew at Lachine as to time trials over the two mile course. McGill will hold a closed practice this week-end with representatives from the Lachine Rowing Club, present holders of the Eastern Rowing Association championship and this should prove an excellent test for the Redmen as the Lachine crew will have a similar advantage in weight as will Varsity in the big race.

Working Ceaselessly

Coach Urban Molmans has had his charges working steadily for the past month on the water and has practically completed the task of grooming a powerful machine for the final event of the rowing season. Lorne Gales will stroke the crew and Hugh McCuaig will pull the bow oar. Harold Elliot, Joe Clark, George Jost, Shep McMurtry, Moe Blumer, and Mac Blakely round out the boat. Murray McIntyre and Odric Smith are spares. Lachine boasts some prominent scullers in the opposing boat for the trial run. Mel Kenny rowed against McGill in the 1928 edition of Varsity oarsmen. Charlie Stark is another member who is well known in the boating world and who will row No. 4 for Lachine.

Officials for the secret run are well known in local as well as outside rowing circles. C. C. Parkes of Lachine will act as starter with J. D. Owen, president of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen, acting as referee. Bill Fry will act as timer and Harry Pangman will judge the finish. Other details of this important event are lacking but a fine race is anticipated. McGill's chances against Varsity will be evident from this race and the week intervening before the title contest will give the Redmen a chance to reach the top of their form.

Busses will accompany the crews along the course during the intercollegiate event and tickets are already on sale for reservations in these busses. As the race takes place after the football game between Western and McGill those attending the contest will have time to catch the bus and see the oarsmen battle it out along the canal.

Senior Oarsmen

L. GALES H. McCUAIG

HAVE BOTH BEEN chosen for the senior crew; Lorne Gales, who has stroked many shells to victory, will once more be Number 1. Hugh McCuaig, who was the rowing captain last season, will pull the oar at the bow in the senior eight.

SPORTS NOTICES

Notices must be typewritten and left in the Sports Editor's basket before eight o'clock on the night previous to publication.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The Physical Director for women will meet all first year women students and others entering for the first time, on Monday, October 3rd, at 4 p.m., in Room 105 of the Royal Victoria College.

VACCINATION

First year women students must produce vaccination certificates at the time of their health examination.

MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS

All students must be medically examined before taking part in any sports.

INTERFACULTY FOOTBALL

Managers of the interfaculty teams are asked to get in touch immediately with Alec Duff by calling Walnut 6934, or Carl Joedicke, Walnut 4614.

ENGLISH RUGBY

Will all those men who played English Rugby last year turn out for practice on the Lower Campus at 5 p.m. today? New men are welcome and will be given a trial.

W.M.S.A.A. TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Entry lists are now posted in the Arts Building and the R.V.C. for the annual tennis tournament conducted by the McGill Women Students' Athletic Association. Students who wish to enter must do so at once, as the list will come down on Saturday, October 1st, and the draw will be made on the same day.

EWEN ENROLLS AT QUEEN'S; NORWOOD RETURNS TO MCGILL

B. W. & F. Club Plans To Start Workouts Early Next Week

MCGILL'S hopes for a B.W. & F. title this year went down one notch with the announcement late yesterday that Jack Ewen, British West Indies welterweight champion and the local representative to the Intercollegiate Assault-at-arms in Kingston last February, has enrolled at Queen's University in the Faculty of Science. Ewen was last season regarded as one of the Redmen's best bets for a title, and although he did not capture a crown, his presence on the Tricolor aggregation will greatly bolster the latters' chance of retaining the laurels which they won last year after a 20-year quest.

At the same time as this fact was made public by Boxing Coach Bert Light, the welcome news that Dag Norwood, popular intercollegiate 145-lb. wrestling champion, has returned to McGill, also made the rounds. Norwood is one of the finest matmen ever seen in the college loop, and two years ago was honored by his teammates by being elected captain of the B.W. & F. team. His return to the game will definitely assure the McGillards of one win at least at the next assault.

Boxing Practices Commence

Coach Light is getting to work without delay this year, and has set the date of the first mat practice for next Tuesday at 5:15 in the Montreal High School gymnasium. Boxing workouts will continue in the M.H.S. until the senior footballers vacate the Field House late in the fall with the termination of their schedule; after that, practices of the fistic art will be held at the Stadium camp until the end of the year.

Wrestling will probably get under way at the same time, except that the days for the mat enthusiasts will be Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays with the boxers taking every other day. Coach George Smith is looking forward to a good year in his line now that Norwood has returned and none of the veterans have dropped out.

All outdoor classes in Physical Education begin on Monday, October 3rd.

M.W.S.A.A.

Nominations are called for the position of President of the McGill Women Students' Athletic Association.

Nominations must be signed by at least ten students and handed to Ruth Paterson, M.S.P.E. '33, the secretary, not later than Monday, Oct. 3.

The President must be a member of Arts, '33.

TRACK

Track practices are held every afternoon except Saturday from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., and Saturday morning from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Everyone is urged to turn out. The Freshman-Sophomore track meet has been cancelled.

Soporific Lectures

Recently there appeared in the editorial columns of the Iowa Student a most interesting suggestion. It seems that the western collegians are rising in revolt against dull and extremely uninteresting lectures.

The sentiment against courses which bore the student body has become so crystallized that the Iowa Student now editorially advocates that students who have no interest in the classroom goings-on should go to sleep.

With a vigor and zest that would do credit to the consideration of a weighty problem of national or international import, the Student deals with the inadvisability of merely yawning or squirming in one's seat to show one's discomfiture. Sleep—no more—no less—is the answer to the problem.

After all, argues the Student, nothing but sleep can impress upon the faculty the fact that students are actually bored with the proceedings, and the faculty must be impressed with such a situation when it exists. It is the solemn duty of that body to make their lectures sufficiently interesting so that students shall eagerly look forward to them, and not squirm during their course.

Such is the logic which launches the Student upon its campaign against dullness in the classroom. Despite the fact that it is doomed to failure it is slightly provocative of thought—and mirth.

We can well imagine the indignation and disappointment of the faculty at such a tirade. We can appreciate the surprise of such a body with the sudden declaration of undergraduates that henceforth they are to be the sole judges of the worth of what is being taught them.

Perhaps this is an innovation in American education which is destined to become one of the elements of our school system. Perhaps, after all, the men whom we have trained to teach Youth are incompetent. Maybe Youth can better direct its own destinies than can those who have been set to guide and counsel them.

The idea is worth trying. Let us allow those Iowa collegians to go their way freely and unhampered, to experiment with the job of making self-made men of themselves. Who knows but that they will ascend to glorious heights and the ultimate salvation of mankind. The cure for cancer may be in the offing... perhaps perpetual motion. There is even a chance that they may find a solution to the economic depression, which seems to stump the older generation—Ohio State Lantern.

Advice To Students

In a letter to the Butler university student body, President Athearn seeks to arouse the undergraduates to a realization of their personal responsibilities. Many, in all colleges and universities, seem to accept the situation in which they find themselves as a matter of course, and fail to sense the privations others are willing to undergo so that their four years in an institution of learning will be made possible. President Athearn emphasizes the opportunities that have come to the undergraduates, particularly at this time, and declares that whoever fails to look on the academic year as a period of training for intensive service and who fails to dedicate his talents helping civilization solve its problems is a slacker.

This will be a year when students must practice personal economy. President Athearn asserts, and one that calls for group economies. He cites the record of some campus organizations that have lived beyond their means and left a trail of indebtedness. Such policies must cease, he declares. He advocates group solidarity and institutional unity, advising the students to avoid a tendency to clamor and snobbery that follows a period of rushing for Greek letter society pledges.

A hint of tighter discipline is seen in the admonition that breaking away from class-rooms, declaring unauthorized holidays and engaging in celebrations over athletic victories constitute "a juvenile practice." The letter adds that "Butler university has out-grown childish enthusiasms of this character" and warns that group celebrations must be authorized and conducted under faculty supervision. Apparently the downtown parades and the mass cheering on the Monument steps will cease and the undergraduates will begin to understand that Butler's new president has some ideas about discipline and dignity.—Indianapolis News.

Look Around

An education is a priceless possession. A large portion of it may be gained in the four years of university life and every faculty possible has been furnished to make these four years more worthwhile. Not the least of these advantages are the many clubs and organizations that play such a vital part in extra-curricular activities.

Students should not become self-centered and let one interest occupy their individual attention. The athlete should not let sports take all his attention, the scholar should take occasional jumps to amusement and recreation, the musician should take up athletics and club life, and in similar

TOO MUCH LIBERALISM!

Raleigh, N.C.—(I.P.)—The University of North Carolina, which in the last few years has come to be known in this country and abroad as one of the most liberal state educational institutions in the United States, has been attacked on this very ground by a group of about 100 prominent North Carolinians.

The group this month sent a plea to Gov. O. Max Gardner of North Carolina, asking him to "save our state from further predatory acts by these so-called modern educators against 'things of the spirit'."

The petition asked the Governor to oust "the undesirables at our tax-supported institutions of learning."

To Protect College
"We are not attacking the university," the petition continued. "On the contrary, we are rallying to the defense thereof to prevent further poisoning by the enemy of those now attending or who may hereafter attend. 'It is up to you, O. Max Gardner, Governor of the State of North Carolina. What will you do about it? You should do something, and make public proclamation thereof from 'Murphy to Manteo' and from the borders of Virginia even unto those of South Carolina.'"

Attack Publication
Student publications at the university, the protesting 100 said, "are straws that show whether the wind is blowing—toward Moscow, and whence it is coming—the class rooms." Appearance at the university and the North Carolina College for women of Bertrand Russell, British philosopher, and Langdon Hughes, Negro poet, was condemned. Russell's philosophy was described as "the incarnation of paganism, dressed up in invigilant and seductive non-Biblical terms, and properly branded as neo-paganism."

fashion, every type should seek a diversion from routine studies. There is hardly a school or department that does not have several of students interested in some endeavor. Fraternities and societies offer unlimited outlet for service. Honorary and professional societies have become well established and offer an incentive for better work. Athletics are especially well organized for both men and women, in three divisions of intercollegiate, intramural, and gymnasium classes. Publications, music, dramatics, public speaking, and committee work are only a few of the many choices.
